Dear Surrogate Candidate,

Below is information regarding how the compensation is paid to you:

Surrogates are paid between $30,000-$50,000 on average.

Your compensation for surrogacy is not paid at one-time. It's paid in intervals throughout the process. Your compensation does not include things like, your clothing allowance, insurance, travel expenses and other fees related to your surrogacy. Those things are covered and are paid separately.

Your first compensation payment will begin at contract signing. At embryo transfer, you will receive another payment. Once your pregnancy is confirmed, you will start receiving regularly scheduled payments throughout the duration of pregnancy on a monthly basis. These payments will come in the form of a check.
